About 40 members of the Meadow Brook Golf club and friends met at the home of A. W. Freeland of Maple avenue last night to give a farewell party to James Norval, who is leaving this week to fulfill a golf professional position in New York. President John Geals being unable to be present through sickness, the secretary, James Fraser, on behalf of the company, presented Mr. Norval a silver ring, to which the recipient feelingly responded. A very enjoyable evening was spent with singing and highland dancing, those contributing to the evening's program being songs by Mrs. A. W. Freeland, Miss Betty Stephens, Mrs. C. Greig, A. W. Freeland and James Fraser, and highland dances by Leslie Mercer and the Misses Florence and Marguerite Strauchen and Phyllis Freeland, and a violin solo by Ina Freeland. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. James Fraser, Mrs. A. W. Freeland and Mrs. A. Allen. The company broke up at a late hour, each one wishing Mr. Norval good luck in his new position. Music for the evening was furnished by Miss Betty Stephens and Mrs. John Mercer at the piano.

The Misses Inga entertained ten members of the Unitus class at their home at 7 Clark street last evening in honor of their teacher, Mrs. Frances Milne, who leaves Thursday for Montreal, from which place she sails Saturday for her home in Aberdeen, Scotland, for an indefinite visit. Upon their arrival, the guests were met at the door by a ghost, measuring some eight feet or more in height, and were then escorted into the house, which had a very "spooky" appearance and gave one an uncanny feeling. Candles gave forth light here and there about the home, and hats, brooms, witches, pumpkins, etc., were very much in evidence. After a very solemn march led by the ghost, the guests were seated, but not for long, for the fun soon began. The hostesses had been given very much power by the witches and were thus enabled to foretell the future of their guests, much to the amusement of those present. After several Halloween games had been played a sealed letter was handed to Mrs. Milne. Upon breaking the seal, she found instructions enclosed within the envelope to follow a string beginning where a black dog stood. According to directions she proceeded to follow this string, which led through various rooms and upstairs, until she came to the end of the string, to which was attached a handsome black leather traveling bag. Although very much surprised, Mrs. Milne thanked the girls in a very pleasing manner. During the course of the entertainment dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, and even then the guests were not allowed to eat in peace for a brain-racking contest was in progress. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mrs. Milne a pleasant voyage.

SERVICE—SATISFACTION

Simplicity Rules
in Wool Frocks

Girlishly youthful are the slim straight lines designers have given the Wool Frock and wisely so, for they become the miss as well as the matron. Embroidery in silk, wool and tinsel, trimmings of loops and points, loose panels, colored suede appliques, ribbons and beading are the touches which add diversity to simple frocks. For street, shopping and general utility one of these frocks solves many a wardrobe problem.

Wool Jersey, Velour, Tricotine and Serges are the materials shown in these Smart Dresses.

The lower prices are especially noticeable. A splendid showing at $18.75. Other attractive models from $22.50 to $28.75.

Thursday afternoon in the town hall in Duxbury at 2 o'clock there will be a meeting in charge of Miss Mildred Boice, home demonstration agent, on "School Lunches." Miss Lydia Potter of the extension service will also be present. It is hoped that there may be a good attendance. All are invited, regardless of membership.

Friday afternoon the Pierian club had a most enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. C. D. Robinson being the assisting hostess. After the roll call by Mrs. Russell, a paper which showed much careful preparation on "Our Presidential Nominees," was read by Mrs. Graves. Following this a fine address on "Election Laws" was given by Attorney C. B. Adams. In this, Mr. Adams, after paying a fine tribute to women, said in part: "There is a field into which women have just entered and it is a big field, the field of national politics. We have seen during the past few years the immense conflict through which we have just passed and we all know the effects of the efforts and the good accomplished. I am very sure that the men of to-day feel that their entry into politics is going to be of much help and benefit and that our politics by reason of their association in them will be cleaner and there will be introduced into the political field better spirit. One of the things which I hope to see accomplished in this connection will be or is rather more interest taken by the men; that is, I mean more will exercise the privilege of voting than heretofore because I believe that women will be interested and will go to the polls and cast their votes because they are interested and I am sure that the larger part of them feel that it is their duty to have a voice in the affairs in the town, state and nation. There cannot be a successful representative government unless all classes discharge their duties as citizens loyally, and one of the principal duties in citizenship is voting. It does no good to stay away from election and then find fault because it did not go as you wished. You have only yourself to blame." The speaker then gave something of the history of suffrage and said: "Now that it is here, it behooves every woman to use it and the question is heard on every corner, 'What will they do with it?' The vote, regarded as a priceless possession and closely restricted by the founders of all governments, has been in the past conferred upon millions of men without their asking and not once has this question ever been asked. The anxiety prompting the question is a compliment to the women, a recognition of their independence, self-reliance and ability, and a recognition of the fact that they are as likely to lead as to be led. It presupposes a revolution in our political life, a cleaning up and the placing of politics in a different position." Mr. Adams then closed with general instructions as to elections and method of voting. References were made to the primary law, its advantages and disadvantages. He closed with an exhortation for women to make the most of their chance, and said: "The home is the corner stone of our modern civilization and woman is the center of that home. How the home emanates the teachings, morals, religion and the other things we hold most dear and I am sure we have nothing to fear by adding to the voters the guardians of our homes." Following the address vocal solos were appealingly rendered by Mrs. Edward Eldridge, Mrs. Adams accompanist, refreshments served and a social time passed.

Special meeting of Troop No. 15, Scouts, at 7 o'clock for the purpose of acting on the proposed amendment to the laws.

Another Royal Suggestion

DOUGHNUTS and CRULLERS

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

DOUGHNUTS made the doughboy happy during the war and no wonder. There is nothing more wholesome and delightful than doughnuts or crullers rightly made. Their rich, golden color and appetizing aroma will create an appetite quicker than anything else in the world.

Here are the famous doughnut and cruller recipes from the New Royal Cook Book.

Doughnuts
2 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Cream shortening; add sugar and well-beaten eggs; stir in milk; add nutmeg, salt, flour and baking powder which have been sifted together and enough additional flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Roll out on floured board to about 1/4 inch thick; cut out. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 30 seconds. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Afternoon Tea Doughnuts
2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

2 tablespoons shortening
1 tablespoon milk
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
Beat eggs until very light; add sugar, salt, nutmeg and melted shortening; add milk, and flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Drop by teaspoons into deep hot fat and fry until brown. Drain well on unglazed paper and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar.

Crullers
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1/4 cup milk

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and beaten eggs; sift together flour, cinnamon, salt and baking powder; add one-half and mix well; add milk and remainder of dry ingredients to make soft dough. Roll out on floured board to about 1/4 inch thick and cut into strips about 4 inches long and 1/4 inch wide; roll in hands and twist each strip and bring ends together. Fry in deep hot fat. Drain and roll in powdered sugar.

Ice Cream

Ice Cream is no longer considered a luxury only. People now look upon it as an article of food and rightly so, for real Ice Cream is a food. When you give the children money to buy Ice Cream it is not wasted on a luxury, but is spent for a food that the kiddies actually need.

The new Granite City Co-operative Creamery are now manufacturing an Ice Cream that is exceptionally rich in butter fat. It is not a cream made to appear rich by a process of manufacturing and the use of large quantities of gelatine, but actually contains butter fat far in excess of the amount required by the state law. It is the product of healthy cows, every cow whose products enter this plant must first have passed a tuberculin test applied under State and Federal supervision.

Order this delicious food for your table. Insist that you be served with it at the Ice Cream parlors. Specify the Granite City Co-operative product. It is safe for the kiddies, and remember that every dollar you spend for it helps a local industry, and goes into the pockets of our local farmers.
